

OBSRDL010

Process Isolations

Duration	90 Minutes
-----------------	------------

Target group	Oil & Gas Industry
---------------------	--------------------

Prerequisites	No prerequisites are required to sit this course.
----------------------	---------------------------------------------------

Objective	LO1: Explain the purpose of a process isolation LO2: Identify the main reasons for isolating LO3: Describe what a process isolation is LO4: Describe key terminology used in the isolation process LO5: Identify the central roles and responsibilities involved in isolations LO6: Identify the fundamental stages of process isolation LO7: Describe the different process isolation methods LO8: Identify the different types of isolation security LO9: Describe isolation monitoring LO10: Identify examples of human errors in the isolation process LO11: Identify examples of isolation controls LO12: Describe the training requirements for workers involved in isolations LO13: Describe the compliance and auditing required for the isolation process
------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Contents	This course emphasises that the purpose of Process Isolations is to prevent harm to personnel, plant and the environment from the unintended or unplanned release of energy and/or hazardous products from systems during service or maintenance activities.
-----------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Exam	This course is CPD approved. The assessment is taken during the course and is within the expected duration.
-------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------