

MFI420

STCW - Advanced Fire Fighting

Duration	2 days
Target group	Mariners who shall function as fire leader on vessels.
Prerequisites	§ 3. For participation in courses and refresher courses in fire management on ships, the student must be in possession of: a valid health certificate for seafarers and fishermen and a maritime certificate as a ship's officer, navigator, ship's engineer, or chief engineer. Subsection 2. Seafarers who are in training to become a ship's officer, navigator, ship's engineer, or chief engineer can be admitted to the course.
Objective	To give the participants the sufficient skills and knowledge to provide on-site management in connection with fire fighting onboard vessels. At the end of the course the participant shall be able to use the principles for on-site management of available resources of personnel and material and shall be able to plan and exercise fire drills onboard a vessel. After completion of the course, the delegate must meet the qualification requirements in accordance with the STCW Code Table A-VI/3
Contents	<ul style="list-style-type: none">-Special conditions in connection with fire onboard vessels-On-site management functions-On-site management principles-Extinguishing tactics and technique-Communication-Planning of exercises-Practical on-site management
Exam	Ongoing assessment